¹A percentage of the distribution is considered Qualified Dividend Income, which is subject to a lower tax rate under the American Taxpayer Relief Act 2012. This percentage applies to all classes of shares.

²Short-term Capital Gains are taxable to shareholders as Ordinary Income, except for the portion that is considered qualified.

³Dividend Received Deduction (DRD) is a tax credit for institutional holders on received dividends. DRD does not apply for individuals.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The investment return and principal value will fluctuate, so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Shareholders should consult with their tax advisors as to the state and local tax status of the income received.
